Will Save Their Lives.—The office of the joint freight depot resembles a rough house at this time, the desks being crowded into the corners of the big rooms, while a gang of carpenters are putting in a new and badly needed floor. In order to prevent the clerks and desks from being precipitated to the lower floor, it was hoped the erection of the new freight depot would obviate the necessity of patching up the old structure, which has answered for a freight office and depot for a third of a century, but Agent Chevers thought a new floor would add to the safety of the employees for the new year until the handsome new depot is completed.

BAMBERGER HAS A BIG FIGHT

DECLARES HE IS BEING OPPOSED BY HARRIMAN.

Ogden Man Among Those Who Are Opposing the Granting of a Franchise in Salt Lake.

Salt Lake, March 19.—Tribune: Evidence that the Oregon Short Line Railway company is waging a bitter fight against the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway company to keep it from obtaining a franchise for a line of track on Third West street, between South Temple and Fourth South streets, came to light at Thursday evening's session of the city council committees. The developing of the evidence was accompanied by some rather pointed and heated language from Simon Bamberger, the controlling owner of the latter road.

In the short adjourned session of the council, two protests against the granting of the franchise to the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway company were presented by George H. Smith, counsel for the Oregon Short Line. One of the protests was signed by the Synms Utah Grocer company, M. S. Browning of Ogden and W. H. Henderson, and the other by E. F. and Annie M. Hanna, C. E. Murphy and the Utah Lumber company. The protests were referred to the municipal laws and streets committees and came up for discussion in these bodies a few minutes afterward.

It was in this discussion that charges of opposition were made. Mr. Bamberger openly declared that the protests were induced to make the protest by the Oregon Short Line. This was denied by Mr. Smith, who admitted that he presented the protests to the council, but said, by way of explanation, that he found them upon his desk late Thursday afternoon, with instructions to leave them with the city recorder. He did not know where they came from, he asserted.

Mr. Bamberger then gave one of the innumerable small ramifications of the recent Hercules Harriman-Gould fight. He told how, in order to protect and insure his entry rights to Salt Lake City, he had asked to be let in on the new depot, and how he, with the Gould interests, had been denied this privilege. The charges elicited no reply.

Mr. Bamberger has both a steam and an electric franchise for passengers to the north side of South Temple street on Third West, but to get up town with passengers, must electrify his road, which he will do this summer. Then he will come up South Temple street over the street railway lines, under a previous agreement, to West Temple street, thence to Market street and across to Main street. He will build no uptown depot, passenger or otherwise, he said Thursday night, anticipating that some business firm in the immediate neighborhood of Main and Market streets will prefer the use of a part of its place for such purpose for the increased trade such usage would bring with it.

HEAVY SHIPMENTS OF WOOL LOCKED FOR

Freight agents of the Harriman lines centering at Ogden are making elaborate arrangements for the handling of the wool clip this year. Shearing will commence about April 1, if climatic conditions are favorable, and shipments of wool will follow directly afterwards. Advices received at local railroad headquarters are to the effect that the clip will be very heavy this spring, and the Harriman management expects to handle about 15,000,000 pounds of the product. The first shipments will be started whirling east from southern Utah and will be followed by clips from the central and northern part of the state and from Idaho points.

VIADUCT HAS SPANNED YARDS

CROWDS CONTINUE TO WATCH THE MEN AT WORK.

No Accident on the Structure is the Source of Congratulations—Switching Not Interfered With.

The viaduct has now been extended entirely across the Southern Pacific yards and the work of completing the big structure from the east side of the passenger train tracks to the Wall street approach of the viaduct will be pushed along as fast as the extent workmen can accomplish the task.

Train service or switching has not been interrupted during the extension of the long structure on Twenty fourth street, and Contractor Dundos has made a record in the heavy work of which he is justly elated.

All day long a crowd of men have watched the erection of the heavy steel pillars and girders.

Railroad men are gratified that the viaduct is now across the yards and that no accident has occurred or injury been sustained by either switchmen or those employed on the structure.

CRUSADE IS AGAINST BOYS

YOUNG FELLOWS ADDICTED TO THE USE OF COCAINE.

Police Arrest Three Boys and Intend to Follow Up Their Efforts to Stop the "Flends."

The police are making an initial move today in the crusade against the use of drugs. Three boys who are known to be "cocaine flends" and "hop heads," are already confined at the city jail and others will be gathered in immediately.

Although it has been known for two years or more that "drug flends" were increasing rapidly in number in the city, there has been no particular crusade started against the evil until the present one launched today. Not only are boys becoming confirmed opium smokers, but numbers of them have contracted the habit of snuffing cocaine and other drugs, the probable outcome of which is known to all.

SURVEYING FOR THE PLAIN CITY ROAD

The initial move in the construction of the Plain City suburban railroad is now in progress. County Surveyor Craven is engaged in establishing the center line of the road between Five Points and Plain City and is also fixing the center line of said road. Chief Engineer West states that this is advisable on account of future development along the proposed route. As the county road contains numerous dips and elevations between the two points named, and as it is probable that at some future time the road will be macadamized, it is preferable for the railroad to be constructed on an established true grade. In after years, therefore, when residents building along the route wish to conform to the established grade, it will be only necessary for them to adopt the grade of the railroad.

Following the establishment of the grades and center line, which will be completed by Saturday, the railroad survey will be commenced at once, including the placing of grade stakes and location of the center line. After this the cross-section stakes will be set so that the farmers may start grading at once.

HALEY'S COMET

In 1910 the evening sky will once more be visited by one of those mysterious and puzzling bodies known as comets.

Let us suppose that upon the approach of this Nebulous Wanderer, the Mariner's Compass should refuse to guide him on his way by swinging continuously in dire confusion, for without this guiding instrument, no ships could sail the seas.

Suppose this comet would affect all the electric current now being used, the result would be a panic in our Commercial System. Without the aid of electricity, telegrams could not be sent over the wires, all the telephones would be without a sound, no railway trains be operated, all our street car system and automobiles at a standstill. People would be climbing stairs in all the buildings of our cities instead of riding up and down, as is usual in elevators, no wireless could be sent or received. The papers would, in the meantime, make humorous allusion to the kerosene lamps and candles of our Forefathers, which would be quite the fashion until our starry visitor should take his departure.

In the crowded cities, riots would occur, there being no way in which to call out the police. Fires could start and gain great headway without the aid of the electric fire alarm. All the powerful steam and water-power electrical plants would be turning their wheels, but no current generated until this mysterious visitor bids our little world adieu and again commences its seventy-five years of wandering out into the starlit sea of time.

Joy would take the place of consternation, and business be resumed, proving how much our lives depend upon the daily and modern uses of electricity, and especially the Electric Light Iron, which is rapidly displacing the old stove-heated one.

We furnish an up-to-date Electric Iron for $4.00, guaranteed for one year, allow you the free use of the iron on thirty days' trial.
